

Brad and Susan McFarlane

Serving Bible Translation in Indonesia through Aviation

A few weeks ago I was driving to the airport on my first day back at work. Walking along beside the road were two guys I recognized so I pulled my old Landcruiser over and gave them a lift. Both men were headed to the airport. Me too! Perfect. It turns out they were on their way in to our flight department to fly home that day around noon. And they were nearly giddy with excitement. Partially because they were headed home after being in town a month, but mostly because they had just finished the final checking of the whole book of Genesis in their language, called Lepki. The Lepki church has been waiting 18 years to get Scriptures in their language, and now that dream was coming true!

Andrew Matteson

Serving First Nations People in Klemtu, BC

"I finished reading John! Now what should I read, Andrew!?" were the first excited words in Rose's text message. "I'm up to chapter 5 now, bro" was the beginning of a conversation with Tony who was out at work at the fish farm but brought his Bible with him. DING goes my phone every morning around 11 AM when my buddy Aaron messages me with the daily Word from the Bible app. Every one of these messages brought a smile to my face and it should to yours as well.

Reading Scripture enables you to learn more about God and what he has done. As Rose found out from her reading in John, "no matter what we go through in our lives and even when we feel alone he is with us and loves us". It also tells us more about who we are and how we should live. Tony realized this in his reading when he said, after reading John 3, "We need a Savior n healer". Wow!

If you are a follower of Christ, your goal is to become like Him and to reproduce that faith in others. You cannot do that without reading Scripture. When you get into the Word, you will begin to have true worship moments like my buddy Aaron in Klemtu had recently, "Wow I didn't know God did that for me!"

