

A part of what kept us at Village was the atmosphere of the chapel services. I think a lot of what we loved about the chapel services is incorporated into the 5:00 service. It has such a friendly and small-church vibe, and it really doesn't take long to get to know all the staff and start to recognize different families and faces. I have never enjoyed a church's greeting time until coming to Village; even though I'm not great at approaching people, it seems more often than not we spend the entire greeting time in good conversation. I also appreciate how the space creates a casual and approachable environment. A lot of what we love is consistent through all services, but I think those are the highlights of what make me choose the 5:00 service.

Grateful for Board Members Ben Spotts and Jong Lim taking time to walk the property and pray over our Village family. Loved having you stop by to say Hello!

A Villager called and wanted to talk more about the sermon and had some questions. It was such a good talk with her. She had brought a friend from her Friday night social hour, who knows about Village from Beaverton Symphony concerts, to church on Sunday. Her friend loved being at Village and had so many good things to say. The message was meaningful to her and she met so many people who were very warm and welcoming--said she never had so many hugs in one place!

I went to the kick off meeting for The Well a few weeks ago and tears filled my eyes on multiple occasions. Some of the things that were said resonated so deeply with me but I also wondered if I would be able to return again. At that point in time, not enough children were signed up for childcare, which is something that I needed in order to attend. As I drove home, I prayed that God would work something so perfectly that I may continue going. A few days later, I listened to a voicemail from the church that child care was available! I was now able to continue attending The Well! And to be real honest, I ugly cried for a solid ten minutes as I drove home from work. I had a deep seeded need and desire for growth and relationships that had been met so perfectly. My heart burst when I learned I was able to continue. I am truly grateful.
