STAY IN THE KNOW AS YOU GO ABOUT YOUR WEEK

COVID Update

On March 12 we'll end the requirement for indoor masks during meetings on our campus in alignment with the recommendation of health authorities. For those who have medical conditions or health concerns, we have two options for Sunday worship services. We'll continue the online broadcast for those who want to participate from home and, until at least mid-April, the Columbia Rooms will be set aside for people who want to worship on campus but with others who have masks on. We invite each individual to make the best choices for themselves and welcome everyone to continue to wear masks at your comfort level anywhere on our campus.

As always, individual ministries may implement additional COVID precautions based on the needs and risk to their participants.

We continue to encourage people to get vaccinated if their medical condition allows and in cooperation with the primary health care provider. If you have questions about where to get vaccinated, please contact Pastor John Jordan. If you have concerns about the vaccine, please contact Dr. Dan Crawford. Both can explore ways to support you during this transition as we come out of COVID restrictions.
